Julia focuses her practice on professional liability, products liability, construction, and complex torts. She has experience helping clients through all phases of litigation. Her significant trial experience includes numerous complex jury and bench trials in both state and federal courts, as well as arguing before the Minnesota Court of Appeals. She has also represented hundreds of clients in alternative dispute resolution forums. Prior to joining Larson • King, Julia served as in-house counsel at a school district, and then as a County Administrator. In her role as County Administrator, Julia oversaw a $60 million budget, 330 employees, and helped shape the development of a quickly growing county. Those roles provided Julia with significant experience in employment and labor law matters. A natural leader with proven communication skills, Julia has served on several advisory boards and community development committees. Julia earned her Juris Doctor from William Mitchell College of Law in 2006 and her B.A. in psychology from the University of Minnesota in 2002. Outside of the office, Julia enjoys spending time with family, running, and enjoying the outdoors.
