PRACTICE AREAS

Business Litigation
Complex Torts
Professional Liability

Taylor practices primarily in the areas of business litigation, complex torts, and professional liability. Taylor has experience in appellate practice, business litigation, construction law, insurance disputes, and marital dissolutions. Prior to Larson · King, Taylor worked at a full-service, general practice law firm, where she assisted clients in all stages of litigation and handled evidentiary and motion hearings. Taylor also clerked for the Honorable Referee Mike Furnstahl of the Fourth Judicial District. Taylor received her J.D. from the University of Minnesota in 2019. During law school, she rose to the position of Student Director for both the U of M's Civil Rights/Civil Liberties Moot Court and the Family Law Clinic. As Student Director, Taylor was responsible for teaching appellate advocacy, judging oral arguments, and reviewing and revising other law students' work. At the Family Law Clinic, Taylor represented clients in both hearings and negotiations. She also represented over 60 clients in hearings as a volunteer law clerk at the First Judicial District's Public Defenders Office. Taylor received her undergraduate degree in Economics with high distinction from the University of Minnesota – Twin Cities, and was on the Dean's List every semester. Outside of her law practice, Taylor enjoys spending time with her family and friends, running and attending group workout classes, and trying out new restaurants (or breweries) in the Twin Cities.
