Zane practices in the areas of business litigation, antitrust and unfair competition, product liability, and medical malpractice. With a robust background representing both individuals and companies, Zane brings a depth of experience and insight to every case he handles. Prior to joining Larson · King, Zane honed his skills at a regional law firm in Houston, Texas, where he served as counsel in a diverse range of business litigation matters. Before that, he gained hands-on experience practicing plaintiff's personal injury litigation at a small Houston law firm. Zane graduated cum laude from the University of Houston Law Center. During law school, Zane served as the Publications and Marketing Editor of the Houston Law Review and as a tutor at the Legal Writing Center. Following law school, Zane gained invaluable insight from the other side of the bench while working as a judicial law clerk for the Honorable Nancy K. Johnson of the United States District Court for the Southern District of Texas. Before embarking on his legal career, Zane earned his Bachelor of Science in Business Administration from the University of Nebraska-Lincoln, majoring in Actuarial Science with minors in Mathematics and Finance. Outside of his practice, Zane enjoys fishing, golfing, playing hockey, and catching as many Minnesota Wild and Vikings games as he can.
